

End Of Life Announcement

Introduction

Avid declares a product 'End Of Life' when it is no longer actively marketed, and is removed from Avid's Pricebooks. The product(s) below are End of Life, and will be subject to Avid's End Of Life support process.

End of Life information is provided on Avid's Web site in the Service Section.

Ongoing Support and Service

- Avid Customer Services will continue to provide telephone support through our partners for five years from effective End Of Life date below.
- Avid's customer will be able to purchase and renew Avid Support Agreements on these products for up to five years from the effective End of Life date below.
- Avid will endeavour to provide spare parts to Avid's installed base. Spares are offered, where available, on an advance replacement basis for customers with a valid Avid Support Contract, provided the part being replaced is less than 5 years old. In other cases, a "return to factory" exchange policy will be employed.

Products declared End Of Life by this announcement

- Airspace

Date of this announcement

- 17.08.06

European Product Manager

- Michael Tancock